DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 10-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anc et al in view of Mizushima et al, for the reasons stated in the previous action, hereby incorporated by reference.

Applicant has amended claim 10 to recite that the gate structure is formed over the substrate having said precipitate region therein, and argues that in Anc and Mizushima the precipitates are redistributed, and are effectively no longer present in the substrate when the gate structure is formed.

However, the fact that some of the implanted oxygen species have combined with the silicon in the substrate to form silicon dioxide does not appear to negate their presence as a precipitate region. The structure and process taught by Anc would appear to reflect the same situation described by applicant on page 14 of the specification, where it is recited that in the instant invention, multiple anneals of the implanted oxygen allow the oxygen to precipitate around SiO nuclei "until all of the oxygen is gone." This step also takes place before the gate is formed.

Thus, as the invention is understood, the process taught by the cited references appears to be directly analogous to that of the claimed invention, where the gate structure is formed after the precipitate region has been annealed. Therefore, to the extent that applicant's amended claims describe a precipitate region remaining in the substrate after the multiple anneals are performed, likewise, the annealed region in Anc would also meet the claimed limitation.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
